Wells, ME

Refreshments and networking 5:30 PM Workshop starts promptly at 6:00 PM

Piscataqua Region Estuaries Partnership (PREP) and the Wells Reserve, in conjunction with Southern Maine Planning and Development Commission (SMPDC), are hosting a workshop geared toward the role of Conservation Commissions in the Planning Board plan review process.

During this hands-on workshop, participants will learn how to review development plans with a focus on Conservation Commission goals and priorities, important environmental considerations for development projects, and approaches for interacting with the Planning Board during the plan review process. SMPDC will provide examples of how local communities involve Conservation Commissions in the review process as well as lead a hands-on exercise reviewing development plans.

Workshop is free of charge, suggested donation of $5, and you must register to participate. Email Abigail Lyon at Abigail.Lyon@unh.edu to register with your name, position, organization, and contact information (email and phone).
